Avaada Seals $950 m Debt for 3 RE Projects

Our Bureau
Mumbai: Clean energy company Avaada Group on Monday announced financial closure of its firm and dispatchable renewable energy (FDRE) project in Bikaner, calling it India's largest fundraise in the segment to date.
 The Mumbai-based company also said that it has secured debt financing for two 300 MW solar power projects located in Rajasthan and Gujarat. "With this, Avaada has achieved total debt sanctions of nearly US $950 million across three large utility-scale renewable energy projects," it said.

The FDRE project in Bikaner, Rajasthan, is being developed under a long-term power purchase agreement (PPA) with Satluj Jal Vidyut Nigam (SJVN). The project represents the next generation of renewable energy infrastructure by combining renewable generation with firm and dispatchable supply capabilities, enabling greater grid stability and reliable round-the-clock delivery of clean power.

The 300 MW solar power project in Rajasthan has a long-term PPA with state-run power producer NTPC, while the 300 MW solar power project in Gujarat is backed by a PPA with SECI. Debt financing for these three large projects has been raised through separate consortiums comprising leading multinational and domestic banks, including Standard Chartered Bank, State Bank of India, HSBC, DBS, SMBC, MUF and BNP Paribas.

Unilever Opens AI-Led Fragrance Research Centre at IIT Bombay

Aanya Thakur
Mumbai: Consumer goods maker Unilever has opened a fragrance research and development centre at the Indian Institute of Technology Bombay, as part of a ₹100-million plan to use artificial intelligence to develop fragrances at its centres in India, the US and the UK. This is the company's third global Unilever Fragrance House (UFH) and comes nearly three decades after it opened Quest International, its flavours and fragrances arm, in 1997.
 "We use three models. One wherein we create the entire fragrance in-house with our creative experts and consumer and brand knowledge. The second is where we collaborate with fragrance houses, which will continue. The difference there is that we will now bring our creative expertise. The third is a fully outsourced model," Vivek Sirohi, head of UFH and R&D Partnerships, told ET.

Unilever had formally announced the creation of the Unilever Fragrance House in November 2024. The company launched its first fragrance facility in May 2025 as part of this network at Port Sunlight, UK, entailing an investment of ₹30 million. Its US facility was announced in July 2025 in Connecticut. Sirohi said Unilever remains one of the largest scaled players in fragrance globally, making it important for the company to "start owning the whole design". The maker of Dove soap, however, said it will not replace existing fragrance partners completely, but instead leverage them during product development and consumer insights as it adopts a hybrid model that combines internal capabilities with partnerships with global fragrance houses. Unlike the traditional model, where fragrance is developed separately from the product, the company is now looking to integrate both at the same time. "We want to co-innovate the product and fragrance at the same time, which means fragrance becomes an integral part of product innovation," Sirohi said. The company said it is investing heavily in AI capabilities, predictive analytics and digital tools at the Fragrance House, accelerating product innovation and go-to-market timelines.

'Right to be Forgotten' an Integral Part of Right to Privacy: HC Ruling

Indu Bhan
New Delhi: In a landmark judgment, the Delhi High Court has recognised individual's "right to be forgotten" as an integral part of the fundamental right to privacy under Article 21 of the Constitution. It said that search engine operators and legal database platforms like Google and LexisNexis.com will have to de-index and disable an individual's "name-based search functionality" in respect of judgments, orders and news articles.
 The court said that search engines like Google, whose function is entirely automated and algorithmic, do not themselves exercise the fundamental right to speech and expression and cannot deny the right to be forgotten to persons. Justice Sachin Datta held that individuals may seek the removal or masking of personal information from online judicial records where continued accessibility causes disproportionate harm to their privacy, dignity and reputation.
 It said that no law authorises Google or any search engine to perpetually index and surface judicial records in a manner that overrides the individual's fundamental right to informational privacy.
 The Information Technology (Intermediary Guidelines and Digital Media Ethics Code) Rules, 2021, obliges intermediaries to comply with court orders directing removal or restriction of content, it said.
 According to the judgment, information that remains permanently available online can negatively affect a person's job prospects, career growth, social reputation, personal relationships, and overall dignity. The HC termed as inaccurate the Google's statement that it performed a passive and neutral function regarding information related to a person.

HC Allows Intas to Sell Cancer Drug Bevatat

New Delhi: The division bench of the Delhi High Court has allowed Ahmedabad-based Intas Pharmaceuticals to make and sell its anti-cancer drug under the name Bevatat, rejecting objections from Sun Pharma, which markets its drug under the name Bevexet.
 Setting aside its order that barred Intas Pharmaceuticals from selling its cancer medication under the name Bevatat for being similar to Sun Pharma's Bevexet, a division bench (DB) of Justices Manmohar Prasad Singh and V. Kamalakar Rao said that the two drugs sold under the names Bevatat and Bevexet, though broadly falling within the category of anti-cancer pharmaceutical preparations, are distinct and dissimilar in composition, therapeutic purpose, indication, dosage and mode of administration, and are admittedly not therapeutic substitutes of each other. —Indu Bhan

Excitel Turns the Corner After a Decade in FY26

New Delhi: Delhi-based standalone internet service provider (ISP) Excitel Broadband reported its first ever annual net profit after a decade of operations in FY26 driven by focusing strictly on dense, urban markets and state capitals where data demand remains high, amidst intense competition from larger telecom operators such as Reliance Jio and Bharti Airtel.
 The ISP reported a net profit of ₹40 crore on the back of ₹30 crore in revenue, CEO Varun Pasricha told ET, bucking the trend of smaller, local ISPs facing an existential threat from the larger players. Pasricha said standalone ISPs are relying on faster internet speeds, enhanced indoor connectivity and fast resolution of issues to compete against Reliance Jio and Bharti Airtel which together control around 66% of the home broadband market. —Subhrojit Mallick
